The civil suit of George Road vs. Mike Vernarec, et ux., was tried be-fore Judge Shumway in the superior court here Friday. The plaintiff, a carpenter, claimed $400 due him for labor and material in a house he built for defendant. The centract price for the house was $760, of which $266 ash was to be paid and the $500 baigage. I by a note secured by a first mortpletion of the house wiede a demand for a note for $440 to prohim, which Vernarec refused. Last March another demand for the note was made and refusal followed. Vernarec claimed the house was not built according to plans and specifications and an expenditure of $800 was necessary to put it in proper shape and he has entered a counter claim for $800 damages against the contractor. The accident happened near the Main street railroad crossing. The automoile was a light runabout, so no bones the boy's leg were broken, although the leg was considerably bruised. The boy was taken to his home by his father, who hapened along in his own automobile soon after the accident ocurred. The bicycle that figured in the accident was somewhat damaged. FIRST CIRCUS OF SEASON. Attended by Good Crowds in Spite of the Drizzle.

Danielson took its first circus of he season with a drizzle Friday, but enjoyed it nevertheless-the circus, not the drizzle. Friends from Foster, Podunk, Rice City and Baker Hollow arrived here in about a dead heat with the circus train and stayed until Mr. Downie and Mr. Wheeler's hired men had again moved the show away for the night and its trip to Putnam. On the circus ground up at North and Main streets the tented city drew a goodly crowd both afternoon and evening, but the rain kept away many who have been saving their buffalo nickels for the event for a consider able time. The show was an enter-taining exhibition of old-time circus stunts and varieties, worth what it cost to see it, but the concert was entitled to a place on the citrus list, as are most circus concerts "after the
